Course Description

This is a one day hybrid conference on home dialysis sponsored by the Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai. Practitioners, researchers, clinician-scientists and RNs who are experts in the field of kidney disease will discuss current developments in the field of Peritoneal Dialysis and related dialysis modalities. There will be a variety of topics, including roundtable discussion with patients on increasing the utilization and retention of home dialysis.

Conference Objectives

Participants will be able to:

- Review the management of diabetes in patients on peritoneal dialysis.
- Discuss the strategies for early detection of peritonitis and management.
- Examine the role of Kt/V target and residual kidney function in clinical outcomes.

Target Audience

This activity has been designed for nephrologists, internists, PCPs, nephrology nurses and other allied health care clinicians caring for patients with kidney disorders.

Accreditation

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is accredited by Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai designates this internet live activity for a maximum of 6.25 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

National Association of Nephrology Technicians/ Technologists (NANT) is an approved provider of continuing contact hours exclusively for nephrology nurses and technicians participating in pre-approved educational programs. A recommended maximum of 7.2 credits based on a 50-minute hour will be granted for this activity. These contact hours may be used for certification application and recertification to NNCC, BONENT, and NNCO certification programs.

Verification of Attendance

Verification of attendance will be provided to all professionals.

Registration Fees

	In-Person Attendance	Virtual Attendance

Faculty Disclosure

It is the policy of Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai (ISMMS) to ensure objectivity, balance, independence, transparency, and scientific rigor in all CME-accredited educational activities. All faculty participating in the planning or implementation of an activity accredited by ISMMS are expected to disclose all of their financial relationships with ineligible companies existing within the prior 24 months. Relevant financial relationships will be mitigated and disclosed to learners before the activity takes place. Presenters must also make a meaningful disclosure to the audience of their discussion of unlabeled or unapproved drugs or devices. This information will be available as part of the course material.
