ADVANCED SIALENDOSCOPY AND MINIMALLY INVASIVE SURGERY

Course Description

This two-day hands-on program is hosted by the prestigious Mount Sinai in New York City. It brings together national and international experts in advanced sialendoscopy and minimally invasive salivary gland surgery. They will demonstrate their surgical knowledge and share their experiences, successes, failures, and future trends.

Participants will learn sophisticated new techniques to manage challenging problems encountered in their practice. The course format will consist of lectures, hands-on cadaver laboratory sessions, panel discussions, and a live surgery. Attendees are encouraged to bring difficult cases for discussion by a faculty panel.

Accreditation

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai designates this live activity for a maximum of 14.75 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™]. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Faculty Disclosure

It is the policy of Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai to ensure objectivity, balance, independence, transparency, and scientific rigor in all CME-sponsored educational activities. All faculty participating in the planning or implementation of a sponsored activity are expected to disclose to the audience any relevant financial relationships and to assist in resolving any conflict of interest that may arise from the relationship. Presenters must also make a meaningful disclosure to the audience of their discussions of unlabeled or unapproved drugs or devices. This information will be available as part of the course material.

Program Objectives

At the conclusion of this activity, participants should be able to:

- Describe the various obstructive salivary gland diseases, and be able to manage these diseases utilizing the different techniques of sialendoscopy and minimally invasive surgeries.
- Identify the barriers to adoption of sialendoscopy in the treatment of salivary gland diseases and incorporate methods, including a treatment algorithm, that will overcome these identified barriers.
- Explain why sialendoscopy increases patient safety in regards to the management of certain salivary gland diseases and justifying the use of sialendoscopy in their current practice.
