REACH

Program Description

The Respectful & Equitable Access to Comprehensive Healthcare (REACH) Program is hosting this working conference to address the role of primary care in addressing the opioid crisis in New York State. The conference will provide an overview of current and planned initiatives across the city and state, as well as foster new collaborations.

The REACH Program provides a patient-centered, harm reduction approach to primary care for persons who use alcohol and other drugs, and for individuals living with hepatitis C virus infection.

Educational Objectives

At the conclusion of this activity, participants will be able to:

- Describe epidemiologic trends in overdose deaths related to opioids at the state and city level in New York and their impact on drug user health.
- Identify current barriers in and stigma associated with implementing drug user health in primary care and methods to address such barriers and stigma.
- Identify key stakeholders and community health partners in New York State working to address the opioid epidemic and develop collaborative strategies to improve and expand opioid use disorder treatment in primary care.
- Describe innovative models of care delivery in drug user health in New York State and how they intersect with primary care to expand access to care and opioid use disorder treatment.

Target Audience

The REACH program welcomes all practitioners who specialize in, but not limited to, the following areas: Academic/Research, Behavioral Health, Chaplain/Spiritual Counselors, Emergency Medicine, Family Practice, General Practice, Hospitalists, Infectious Diseases, Medical Education, Nurse Practitioners, Palliative Medicine, Physician Assistants, Primary Care, Psychiatry, Psychology, Public Health, Social Work. In addition, consumers, community members, and all other stakeholders are welcome.

Accreditation

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Credit Designation

The Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai designates this live activity for a maximum of 6.00 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Social Workers: Icahn School of Medicine at Mount Sinai, Department of Social Work Services is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Social Work as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed social workers #SW-0079 and designates this live in-person educational activity for 5.5 continuing education contact hours for the entire conference. Participants must attend an entire conference day and submit all required documents in order to earn the full amount of CEs for the conference day (i.e., complete sign-ins, attestations, and survey). No partial CE can be given.

Verification of Attendance

Verification of attendance will be provided to all professionals.
